Library suspends services amid COVID-19, arson at Bellingham homeless camp

BY ROBERT MITTENDORF
rmittendorf@bhamherald.com

Tensions at the homeless encampment on the lawns of the Bellingham Public Library and City Hall has forced suspension of the library's popular curbside pickup program, Mayor Seth Fleetwood announced Monday night, Dec. 7.

Also at Monday's online meeting, Fleetwood promised an announcement within the next few days regarding an end to the month-long tent camp, whose residents are protesting a lack of shelter for people without homes across Whatcom County.

Whatcom County officials are discussing purchasing 50 or more mini homes referred to as "pallet shelters," and Bellingham is working to find a location for the units and an organization to manage a pallet shelter enclave.

"We're working actively to bring it to an end," Fleetwood said.

Fleetwood told the City Council that the suspension of library services comes amid:

- An arson fire Saturday in a tent where propane tanks exploded.

- Reports that some camp residents have harassed people who work in the downtown core.

- Confirmation that at least three of the campers have contracted COVID-19.

He promised that the encampment will end soon, but did not elaborate.

"That was traumatizing for a number of folks," Fleetwood said. "There's just a heightened sense of angst for everyone."

He said the situation at the encampment was

"complicated" and "dynamic" and "the safety of all is of paramount concern."

It was unclear when Bellingham library patrons would be able to begin borrowing materials again, however.

A notice at the website said curbside pickups, book returns and the library call center help line are "temporarily suspended."

Bellingham Public Library closed March 16 amid statewide measures to curb the spread of COVID-19.

Patrons borrowed record amounts of library materials before the closure, library officials said.

Book returns resumed June 8, and on June 15, a new curbside pickup service debuted that allowed patrons to reserve materials online and schedule a pickup date with brief in-person contact.

It proved highly popular, and library officials were scheduling pickup appointments several days in advance.

Regular Meeting of the Library Board of Trustees
Tuesday, November 17, 2020 – Zoom meeting
3:30 p.m.

Minutes of Actions and Decisions of the Library Board of Trustees of the Bellingham Public Library as authorized by RCW 27.12.210 and SEC. 7.02 Charter of the City of Bellingham.

Board Members Present: Rick Osen, Rachel Myers, Rebecca Craven, Jim McCabe and Vernon Johnson

Library Staff: Rebecca Judd, Annette Bagley, Bethany Hoglund, Jon McConnel, Jennifer Vander Ploeg and Wendy Jenkins

Others Present: Hollie Huthman, City Council Liaison; Faye Hill, Friends of BPL

Call to order and introductions: Regular session was called to order at 3:30 p.m. by Chair, Rick Osen.

Approve/modify agenda: Rebecca Craven moved to approve the agenda. Jim McCabe seconded. Motion carried.

Public comment: no comments.

Consent agenda: Jim McCabe moved to approve the October 20, 2020 Regular meeting minutes and the October 2020 performance and activity measures and financial reports. Rebecca Craven seconded. Motion carried.

Board Chair report: Rick reported that he and Rebecca had their monthly meeting with Mayor Fleetwood on November 5. Among other topics, the Mayor's most recent meeting with the Cordata Neighborhood Association was discussed.

Rick announced the Mayor approved the Board's Trustee recommendation for the upcoming vacancy. City Council approval is scheduled for December 7. If approved, the selected candidate will be invited to attend the December board meeting.

Board member reports: Jim reported that Rick Sepler, Planning and Community Development Director, provided an update on general northside planning at the last Cordata Neighborhood Association virtual meeting. One of the items mentioned was repurposing Bellis Fair Mall, which prompted Neighborhood advocacy for a branch location at the Mall. Rick Osen mentioned that service needs and costs also need to be part of the discussion.

City Council liaison report: Hollie reported that Council is deeply involved in budget discussions.

Rebecca thanked Hollie for introducing her to the newly forming Racial Equity Commission. Hollie explained that the Commission has done research, looking deeply at racial equity questions. The Commission is currently in discussion with Mayor Fleetwood and County Executive Sidhu about next steps, and Hollie felt the Library was a natural place for community building.

Jim mentioned the Transportation Fund levy passed with 82% – amazing support.

Friends of BPL report: Faye reported that one of the Friends, Kathie Wilson, invited all Friends members to take the tutorial training ACT with Compassion to help gain insight into homelessness. Faye said members were looking forward to this training – it isn't about books, but it's about the people they care about.

Library Director report: Rebecca announced she would be doing a presentation about the remodel at tomorrow night's Mayor's Neighborhood Advisory Commission (MNAC) meeting. Jen provided her remodel photographs for Rebecca to share.

Rebecca invited Annette to discuss a couple of projects she is working on:

- Annette has arranged for BTV to film two segments concerning the Library: one on the remodel and one on a behind-the-scenes look at curbside service.
- Whatcom READS committees have been meeting virtually, preparing for the 2021 event featuring Esi Edugyan's book Washington Black. Virtual events are being planned for December 5, then January-March 2021. The author events are being coordinated for March 4-5. More information is available on the Whatcom READS website: <https://www.whatcomreads.org/>

Phase 2 update: Rick announced that the new Governor's order calls for 4 weeks of dialed back service in many areas, but libraries are not specifically mentioned. Rebecca said this means that opening at 25% capacity stands. Libraries across the state are responding in a variety of ways – some rolling back to curbside, some remaining at 25%, some pausing opening dates. We will continue to explore a Fairhaven branch computer lab, as well as expanding book return options but will wait to announce any dates.

Jen updated the Board on the upcoming MyLibro app – it is ready to go, training is underway, and we expect to go live on Monday, December 7.

Facilities update:

- Barkley Licensing Agreement: Rick reported the Agreement is being routed for signatures.
- Central Library main floor remodel: Jen screen-shared pictures showing recent progress on the remodel (See Attachment #1 for Highlights from the main floor remodel. All attachments are located at the end of the minutes).

2021 DRAFT Annual Action Plan: Rick mentioned that we need to keep in mind that we have three frozen vacant positions plus staff furloughs to take into account in 2021, so we must be careful not to be too ambitious.

Rebecca reviewed the 2021 DRAFT Annual Action Plan that is included in the packet. She prefaced that this draft was prepared with the assumption that the first half of 2021 will have disrupted service due to the remodel completion, the ongoing COVID-19 restrictions, furlough hours that must be planned and implemented. Rebecca pointed out that each of the five sections – Welcome & Include; Access & Opportunity; Read & Learn; Inform & Involve; and Thrive & Grow – has a set of “We Are” statements followed by a set of “We Will” statements. Rebecca added that she will also be sharing this draft plan at the upcoming November staff meeting. She plans to finalize the draft and present it to the Board at the December meeting.

Rebecca Craven asked if the Outreach curbside service arrangement mentioned at last month's meeting has been put into action. Jen responded that it has. Colleen Morse has been working with each of the Facilities to arrange service.

Rebecca Craven asked if the HVAC system in the library will be effective enough for the small meeting spaces when we are partially open? Rebecca Judd responded that we will not be opening the public meeting spaces until Phase 4.

Rebecca Craven also asked for clarification about the 600 Help Desk calls each week – do they include curbside service calls? Jen clarified that the Help Desk calls are in addition to curbside calls. We typically get 600-800 curbside calls daily.

Jim complimented the scope of the Action Plan and suggested AMH be spelled out for people who might not know this refers to an automated materials handler.

Fundraising follow-up: Rick first asked everyone to consider nomenclature: there are two types of funds – fundraising and sustainable funding. Fundraising refers to private donations and sustainable funding is budget-supplemented funding (as was studied in the BERK Bellingham Public Library Services and Funding Models Study completed in 2018). The fundraising discussion will continue into next year. Rick suggested that at the January board meeting, with the new Trustee, we review current funding sources.

Rick continued that last month we discussed fundraising, focusing on Library Giving Day. Next steps include coming up with a list of donation targets and a list of ways to promote Library Giving Day widely throughout the community.

Rebecca pointed out that there are donation targets mentioned in the 2021 draft Action Plan – racial equity, climate action, and digital equity. Last year the Library Giving Day donations funded a new WiFi hot spot program to respond to digital equity needs. The service contracts for these devices will end in May and June. To renew service for the 35 Sprint hot spots and convert the 20 Verizon hotspots, we need about $8,000. If we would like to expand the service with an additional 10 devices, we would need $10,000.

Rebecca mentioned that another project we are currently implementing, with Friends of the Library funding, is Digital Storytelling: Black lives in Whatcom County. Adding two more communities to this project in 2021 would cost about $10,000. She mentioned that a third possible target is a laptop lending program. Funding for the laptop initiative is still to be determined.

Rebecca continued by mentioning that the Bragg-Muldrow Endowment will provide its first distribution early in 2021. It is estimated to be approximately $125,000. We will need to determine whether to save or spend it. Rachel offered to attend the January board meeting in her Whatcom Community Foundation capacity to provide a presentation about the funds.

Rachel shared that, from a current cultural perspective, she thinks racial equity is the right direction to go.

Budget update: Rebecca reported that the first and second reading of the 2021-2022 budget is scheduled for December 7 followed by adoption on December 14. Included in Public Works' Capital budget is $450,000 for replacement of our freight elevator.

New Business:

- Rick proposed limiting the December meeting to one hour so we can sign off and join a Zoom social hour in honor of Rachel's eleven years of service.

Action items for next meeting:

- Election of 2021 Board officials
- 2021 Annual Action Plan

Meeting adjourned at 4:45 p.m.

Next Regular Library Board Meeting – December 15, 2020 – Zoom meeting – 3:30 p.m.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT FOR December 15, 2020

In light of recent events outside the Central Library, such as additional COVID-19 cases among campers and a fire on the lawn, as well as an abundance of caution for staff, the public, campers and volunteers, the Library paused services on December 7 to reassess safety measures. We continue to work closely with City staff and look forward to resuming curbside services as soon as possible. (Rebecca Judd, Library Director)

WELCOME & INCLUDE

Milestone anniversaries: We celebrate four anniversary milestones in 2020:

- Bernice Chang 15 years
- Beth Bevens 20 years
- Wendy Jenkins 25 years
- Deborah Brewer 30 years

Thank you to Bernice, Beth, Wendy, and Deborah for your exemplary service to the Library and our Bellingham community.

Thank you also to Theresa Keith, who will be leaving the Library on December 31. Theresa came to us in January 2020 and has filled two temporary positions over the course of a highly unusual year. We have appreciated Theresa's skill, diplomacy, and willingness to jump into new challenges. (Rebecca Judd, Library Director)

Staffing update: There were a lot of great candidates in our Library Assistant hiring process. We've made offers to nine who will be starting in December and January. We're using staggered start dates to keep groups small and allow us to train in an appropriately spaced environment. (Jen Vander Ploeg, Head of Public Services and Operations)

MyLIBRO launch: Late November saw a flurry of activity setting up the final configuration of the myLIBRO tool we're now using to schedule curbside holds pickup. It is ready to go for patrons to use. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Since Time Immemorial (STI) Kits: Children's Specialist Julie Mauermann served on a committee to create material kits that support the Since Time Immemorial: Tribal Sovereignty in Washington State (STI) curriculum. This curriculum, created by the Washington Office of the Superintendent for Public Instruction (OSPI), is endorsed by all 29 tribes in Washington State and provides units for preschool through high school students. The STI kits are intended for preschool through early elementary learners and are curated around three curriculum lessons: Who We Are, House of Salmon and Respecting our House. The committee members, consisting of Whatcom County

Library System staff Theresa and Tessa, Lummi Nation Member and Educator, and Julie, carefully and thoughtfully curated a selection of library materials and other engagement pieces such as felt stories or puppets for each kit. Additionally, a notebook with instructions, ideas and further resources is included. Bellingham Public Library has two kits and Whatcom County Library System has four kits available to check out. Thank you to WCLS for compiling and packaging the kits, and to Julie and the entire STI Kit team for their work in getting these kits ready and into the community. (Bethany Hoglund, Deputy Library Director)

ACCESS & OPPORTUNITY

Wi-fi hotspot lending: As soon as word went out that we had a different type of wi-fi hotspot available to borrow, holds activity picked up for the Verizon devices. On a typical day all 55 hotspots of both types are either Out, being Held, or In-Transit to fill a hold. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Virtual author visit: Teen services librarian Jennifer Lovchik recounts a recent library program for middle school students:

I visit every Bellingham Public Schools (BPS) middle school once a month virtually to host a Lunchtime Book Group. On Wednesday, December 2, Ben Guterson, author of the popular middle grade series "The Winterhouse Trilogy," became the first author-guest to join our group. For his visit, I opened up what would have been Whatcom Middle School's book group to all the BPS middle school students. Forty-three people joined Mr. Guterson and myself for his very entertaining presentation. Using a PowerPoint slide show, Mr. Guterson introduced himself and his background and then discussed the creation of his books. One of the key elements of his books is the inclusion of different word puzzles in each book and he presented examples of each for the kids to try out. He gave the students opportunities to ask questions and share their thoughts throughout his presentation. The attendees and Mr. Guterson had a great visit, with Mr. Guterson stating it was the best attendance he's had for a virtual visit!

(Bethany Hoglund, Deputy Library Director)

READ & LEARN

Year-end stewardship: Collection Services staff have been working diligently to finish out the year's acquisitions so we can fully spend our budget. Their part-time work-from-home experience served them well during the recent emergency closure. They are still supplied with the necessary equipment to access the City's network from home and continue their work with only minor interruption. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

SimplyE eBook platform: The work to develop a secure method to communicate between our catalog system and the Library Simplified/SimplyE ebook platform, hosted by Lyris, hit a major milestone on Dec. 8 – success with a test of securely passing data between Lyris and Ill. We do not yet have a target date for making the platform available to the public, but this is a positive step. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Whatcom READS 2021: Whatcom READS publicity is moving forward. Eight virtual events are planned in January and February 2021 on themes related to Washington Black by Esi Edugyan. Three virtual author events will take place in March 2021. Whatcom READS also received a grant from Whatcom Community Foundation to expand participation and awareness of these programs, and also to grow the conversation by facilitating businesses and individual book groups with guided, personalized book discussions, creating safe spaces for conversations on the book's themes. This will be achieved by connecting with our many non-profits and leaders working in anti-racism, as well as with our knowledgeable librarians, to create a "speakers bureau" concept that will allow small groups to tap into this expertise for book discussions. The grant will also enable Whatcom READS to boost outreach with video segments and digital advertising. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

INFORM & INVOLVE

eNewsletter relaunch: Our November eNewsletter inspired a wonderful public response, full of appreciation and well-wishes to Library staff. People were thrilled to hear from us and to learn about the renovation project and all our new & revised services:

From NextDoor Happy Valley post: Some good news for the Bellingham community... We have an exceptionally fine public library here in Bellingham. Not every town of our size is blessed with a library that offers so many excellent services, a huge collection and such a fine staff. Even during this Covid-19 pandemic the Library continues to function, with curbside pickup. Now I just read that the main building is undergoing a substantial renovation of the main interior space, so the disruptions caused by the pandemic are actually being used to advantage to improve the facility. Many thanks to all who are working to make this happen!

From Facebook: ...Your job seems stressful and hard right now and I am so so so grateful for your work. ❤️ Bellingham Public Library - Bellingham, WA, you are (one of my) quarantine heroes. ❤️

From email: Comment: Can't thank you enough. This on-line site is very well done, but I must admit I have a bias. I think the library and all staff and volunteers have been super for a long time. I hope during these challenging times, you remember how much we appreciate all you do. The library has made a tremendous difference to so many, including me and our family. Just don't forget with all the organizing and time-saving technology, books are by the people and for the people. And it is you people, we thank. Wishing you many good days.

(Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

Sharing resources: We have shared with two libraries, Orcas Island and Burlington, the details for how we prepared our wi-fi hotspots for circulation. The great work our team did on figuring out those essential steps, especially Doug & Paul in ITSD on the case and padding, is paying off for patrons at other libraries, too. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

THRIVE & GROW

Sorter coming soon: The Automated Materials Handler is scheduled to arrive Tuesday, December 15, and will be installed and configured later in the week. Use of the sorter will be delayed until the end of construction. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Shipping crates are here: New shipping crates have arrived to help with our added storage needs during the pandemic. Quarantine and more complicated deliveries during this time highlighted this gap in our equipment. We were able to acquire the new containers using CARES funding. (Jen Vander Ploeg, Head of Public Services and Operations)

Main Floor renovations: The remodel project is moving along well with new lights continuing to go up, window installs completed, and drywall and paint in process. We found an extra doorway that wasn't in the plans (which will be closed up) and have decided to close another doorway into the staff area due to newly-apparent safety reasons. In-floor electrical work is underway in the seating area in front of the north windows. Washable floor surfaces will be applied in the new restrooms soon. We're anticipating arrival of the new elevator at the end of the month, with work expected to begin in early January. (Jen Vander Ploeg, Head of Public Services and Operations)

Item #11

WHATCOM READS

Now in its 13th year, Whatcom READS invites Bellingham and Whatcom County neighbors to celebrate books by reading the same title. The 2021 selection is the award-winning Washington Black by Esi Edugyan. It is a mesmerizing, richly imagined adventure story that illuminates complicated truths about race and belonging. Read or listen to this powerfully beautiful book and then join free online community events inspired by its THEMES and described on the back of this flyer.

Check out the book for curbside pickup or borrow the eBook or audiobook from the library.

Purchase a copy from community partner Village Books, who donates 10% of sales to Whatcom READS.

DON'T MISS!

Author Events with Esi Edugyan

The author visits Whatcom County via live video events to discuss the book and her creative process. Register at whatcomreads.org.

March 4-5

We are grateful for the financial support of the Friends of the Bellingham Public Library, Whatcom County Library Foundation and Bellingham Technical College Foundation, and for the support of numerous community partners.

All events are online. Here's how to attend: Registration is required (one per household); space is limited. Reserve your spot via the link in the event listing in our online calendar, whatcomreads.org/events. A confirmation and program link will be sent via email. You will need access to the internet. It may be possible to join some programs by phone. Email us for assistance, whatcomreads@gmail.com

ILLUSTRATION AND THE NATURAL WORLD

"Wash" is a talented illustrator who uses his skill to explore the natural world. His experiences include an inspiring encounter with an octopus.

The Smart Skin and Amazing Brains of the Octopus

The octopus has fascinated investigators since Aristotle (and sparks innovation for Washington Black). Join Dr. David Gire for an exploration of the neuroscience behind how octopuses think and behave.

Saturday, Feb. 13, 1:00 PM–2:00 PM

What It's Like to Be a Bird: From Flying to Nesting, Eating to Singing—What Birds Are Doing, and Why

Renowned ornithologist David Allen Sibley will discuss his latest book with a focus on nature illustration. He is the author and illustrator of the series of successful guides to nature that bear his name, including The Sibley Guide to Birds.

Saturday, February 20, 4:00 PM–5:00 PM

*Lift Every Voice is a year-long, nationwide celebration of the 250-year tradition of African American poetry. Learn more at africanamericanpoetry.org.

RACE AND BELONGING

Like Edugyan's other richly imagined and impeccably researched stories, Washington Black illuminates complicated truths about race. Honor the voices and stories of Black writers at these special events.

Poetry Reading with Robert Lashley

Poet Robert Lashley has connections to the deep South and is a survivor of the Hilltop gang wars of the early '90s. His poetry makes sense of the multitude of voices that have surrounded him.

Thursday, Jan. 14, 7:00 PM–8:00 PM

Angel in the Outhouse: Stories of the Civil Rights Movement by Kathya Alexander

Through stories based on her own experience growing up in the segregated South, award-winning Seattle storyteller Kathya Alexander makes this time in history come alive. Made possible through a Lift Every Voice grant*.

Saturday, Jan. 23, 7:00 PM–8:30 PM

Let's Talk About Race with author and professor Clyde Ford

With warmth and openness, author and professor Clyde Ford leads a discussion on race in America with emphasis on audience participation. Meant for people of all races, participants will gain tools to engage in honest, transparent and meaningful conversations about race. A Humanities Washington program.

Monday, Jan. 25, 6:00 PM–7:00 PM

African American Poetry: 250 Years of Struggle and Song Poetry Reading

Dr. Bill Lyne, coordinator of African American Studies at Western Washington University, moderates a discussion on African American literature that invites us to rise up and honor these voices. Made possible by a Lift Every Voice grant*.

Friday, Feb. 5, 7:00 PM–8:00 PM

Technology and Social Justice with Clyde Ford

Author, scholar and activist Clyde Ford shows how the issues his father faced as the first Black software engineer in America are present in high-tech today, and what concerned citizens must do to advocate for human and civil rights in the modern technological age.

Thursday, Feb. 11, 7:00 PM–8:00 PM

I'll Fly Away: A Sojourn Through Poetry and Spirituals

Poet, performer and distinguished scholar Gloria Burgess explores the rich heritage of spirituals and poetry from the African American tradition in a spirited sojourn through words and music. Made possible by a Lift Every Voice grant*.
